LIFE PATH NUMBER

As per your DATE OF BIRTH, your LIFE PATH NUMBER is : 1

My heartiest greetings to you, for you are a born leader. As a quintessential leader, you always want the freedom of thought and action. You feel responsible for the tasks and people you love. Once you are determined to do something, you don't let anything or anyone stand in your way. You demand respect and attention and prefer seeing things going how you want. You prefer a commanding position over a supportive role in important undertakings. You always feel you are someone special and want to be in the limelight. Your characteristic introduction should be like-

'You are very creative, and you always think out of the box. You are courageous and never afraid to take a difficult path to achieve your goal. You give very high importance to your status and so foster the appearance of success and self-satisfaction. Since you always want to get the attention that strives for growth, success and the finer things in life come naturally to you. You do very well when you take ownership of anything.'

Ideally, you should be your own boss so working for yourself seems a better-suited plan for you. When you are attached to your life's dreams and works, your determination will ensure that you realize it.

As a leader with life path number 1, be mindful of avoiding selfishness, self-importance, over-concern with appearances, overzealous behavior, anger, and aggressiveness. If left unchecked, these qualities can lead to excessive domineering, vindictiveness, and even violence.

You will achieve high feats in life as long as the drive, creativity, originality, and pioneering spirit are fully employed. You are a talent powerhouse and have the potential to be successful as well. As a career choice, you may have a natural inclination towards Business, military, or government institutions as long as you enjoy a leadership role and the possibility to do things your way.

Love & Relationship:

To whomever you love, dedicate yourself to them. You care for them; you protect them like a father. Due to this, you do very well in a relationship. However, it has been observed that you are expecting too much from your spouse or lover/beloved. You always expect that they should have some talents or special qualities that you can showcase to the world so that people can give you attention. This too much expectation creates a problem in your relationship, and you may face some nagging or ego clash in your relationship.

Career:

I have seen that most of the higher government officials belong to Number 1. Even not only Government officials in any authoritative position, people usually have number 1 in their core numbers. You are by the born leader. Once you decide what to do, you will definitely succeed because you have some sort of talent or energy that will help you succeed. But remember, it is your wish ultimately. If you don't put in effort, you won't achieve success, so you cannot put the blame on others.

The good thing about you is you have excellent decision-making capacity, and you are a visionary person as well. Having said that, I recommend that you work for yourself. It is either business or Job. Once you decide what to do, you do excellent. You should always drive your own show. Since you don't feel comfortable working under others, or in other words, you don't like it if someone instructs you or someone makes you feel he/she is your boss. You are not able to give your best if you are not owning the task. Number 1 is the first number, and it encourages you to initiate the task. To find out your job/task which you love and give your hundred percent, you will definitely get success.

Suitable Career options: Business, manage

LIFE PATH NUMBER

rial positions if in a job, military, law enforcement, high-ranking business managers, and self-employed.

Finance:

Number 1 usually has a Monetary advantage. Since you are the born leader yo,u will get most of the monetary gain through an initiative taken in your life. However, overall, you will always have money flowing throughout your life.

Health:

You should take care of your eyes. This is my personal observation; I have seen most of the Life Path number 1 people wear glasses. Also, you should be careful about Bone-related diseases. Headache is another symptom you may see in your health.

Disease: back, heart, arteries, head, liver, stomach, and retentive faculties. Illness related to these are high blood pressure, palpitation, and heart attack. Sometimes, due to high zeal, you spoil your inner vitality.

Precaution: You should avoid Intoxicants (wine or cigarette) and medicine addiction. Otherwise, you may suffer from liver, kidney, and lung problems. You should eat food that contains high calories. You should avoid intoxicated drinks. You need a good amount of daily rest and sleep. You should also avoid cool places and be careful about eye and throat problems. For you guys, it is highly recommended that you take honey, dry fruits, oranges, apples, cloves, ginger, and barely anything else. Kesar, Ashtvarg, Ashwagandha, and nutmeg. These are extremely beneficial to them. If possible, you should also avoid rigidity and ruling nature.

Suggestion:

You are the born leader, and you have got some gift from a higher source. Due to that, you easily get attention from people. However, I would like to suggest that you be aware of your ego. Because your ego level is very high, it creates problems in your life. It does not allow you to connect to people. You always think you are the center of the world and don't pay attention to other's feelings. Try to connect to people and take care of your loved ones.

You were born to do something big. Your strength is a gift to you from a higher source. Use this for the betterment of others' lives. The more you connect to people, the easier your life will be. Needless to say, you will get the limelight and love that you always wished for.

Overall, you are a visionary, a good decision-maker, and a leader kind of personality. God bless you.

2. Your life will be fast, and financially, you will have a hard time-saving money.

SUN SIGN WESTERN (TROPICAL SYSTEM)

As per your B'day your sun sign is Leo

The year you were born plays an important role in determining your future lifestyle and major life events, whether positive or negative.

Leo is characterized as a person who is enthusiastic, powerful, creative, generous, and extravagant. However, at times, they can be dogmatic and fixed in their opinion. On the other hand, you are someone who is direct, energetic, and strong through action. You believe in your ideas and are very difficult to sway once you have formed an opinion. You tend to be a perfectionist and are more of a finisher rather than an originator.

The Leo zodiac sign is symbolized by The Lion. The symbol is depicted by a curving line that represents the lion's mane. Leos tend to possess several characteristics that are similar to felines. They carry themselves with pride and grace and often require periods of rest before engaging in intense activity. They also have a deep love for sensual pleasures and playful activities. In addition, an angry Leo's roar can be quite intimidating.

Upside: Leo is known for being an honest and decent person who always tries to do the right thing, regardless of the situation. They value organization and like to keep their possessions in order. Leos also have a penchant for material goods and luxury, and they enjoy sharing these experiences with the people they love. Initially, Leo is accepting of everyone and generally forms strong, lasting relationships.

Downside: Leo is a sign that has a strong sense of self-worth, but sometimes it can border on arrogance. They tend to be extravagant if they are not content with what they have. Since they prefer to be in control, they may end up smothering their partners and friends, leading to feelings of isolation (which is something Leo dislikes). Divorce and loss can be particularly devastating for individuals born under Leo, as they prioritize community and family.

SUN SIGN EASTERN (SIDEREAL SYSTEM)

As per your date birth your sun sign is Cancer

The year you were born plays an important role in determining your future lifestyle and major life events, whether positive or negative.

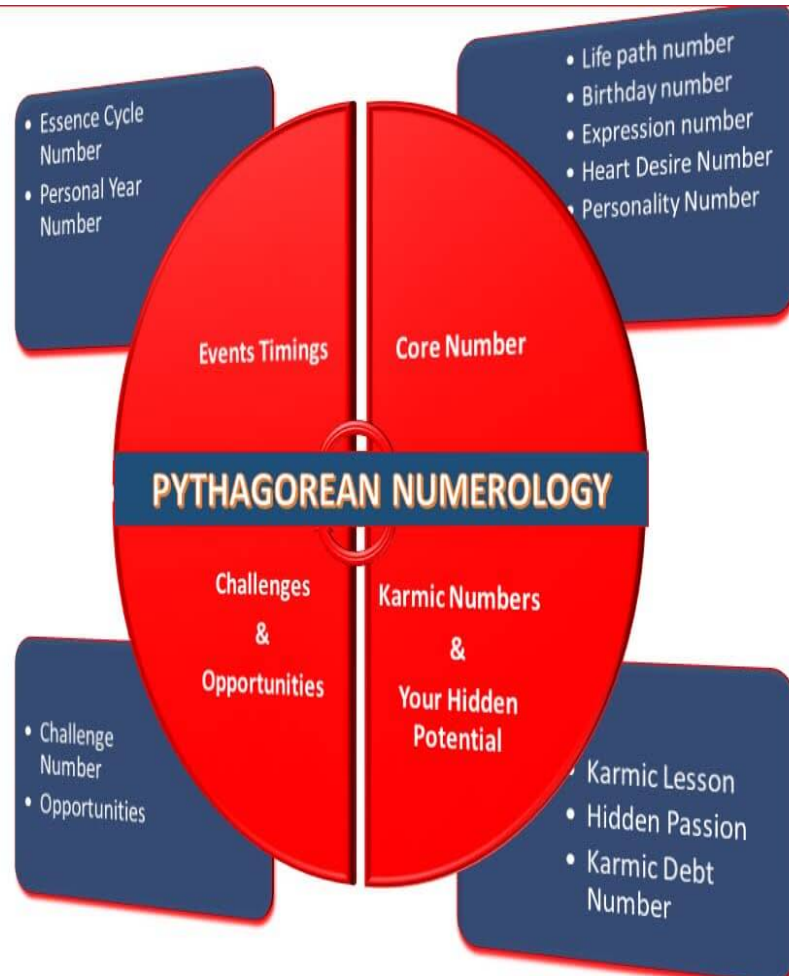

As a Cancerian, you are an individual of depth, receptivity, and imagination. Your active, shrewd, and intuitive mind is a powerful tool. Your emotional sensitivity and kindness are traits and part of your essence. Your self-containment and inner strength are like a protective shell guarding your vulnerable interior. If you are assigned the Cancer zodiac sign, you are likely the most sensitive person, and that sensitivity is a gift.

The Cancer sign is symbolized by a crab, which is represented by two circles with tails. These circles can either be interpreted as a woman's breasts or the crab's powerful, curving claws. The breasts symbolize motherhood and nourishment, while the crab's hard shell protects its vulnerable interior.

People born under the Cancer sign are usually emotionally self-protective but have a soft and sensitive core. They are highly emotional and need constant support and guidance; otherwise, they may become disheartened.
